Internet Client Access

Offer your users real-time access to online alarm monitoring information

Internet Client Access

Reduce operator workload and improve customer experience with 24/7 internet access

Patriot's Internet Client Access Module (ICA) offers your users real-time access to online alarm monitoring information. This provides site details, logs (history), activation reports, user lists, activation response plans, zone listings, and open/close schedules.

Using a standard Web Browser, users will be able to obtain live data in real time, 24 hours a day without inconveniencing your monitoring station operators. Time spent generating and sending reports can be eliminated.

After-hours entries and departures can be viewed and documented online. ICA is a powerful tool for tracking an individual's movements in and around monitored areas.

ICA clients log on with secure user names and passwords. Only one password is required to view all authorised sites. The monitoring station retains complete control over data that is available to ICA clients. Feedback forms allow clients to request changes or amend any incorrect data.

ICA gives your customers real time access to site security information and improves monitoring station profitability

All customer and monitoring information is secure and confidentiality is protected with strong data encryption.

The optional ICA Advanced module delivers even more features to customers with selected site maintenance functions available via web browser.

The Internet Client Access Module is available in several languages including Spanish, French, and German and can be translated into any other language as required. Multiple languages can be used on one site.

Internet Client Access is hosted on your own or your ISP's web servers. This makes ICA available to all your monitoring station users. Your ICA web pages can be tailored to blend with the style of your existing website.

Alternatively, your ICA can be hosted by Patriot Systems Ltd delivering ICA to selected users for a low monthly fee.
